To College Works Painting

Re: Daniel Deen
Crew: Mark McReynolds and Luke O'Neil

To Whom It May Concern;

When my husband told me he had made an appointment with CollegeWorks for an estimate on painting our house I was very skeptical; college kids painting our house, hmmm.

On the morning of our estimate, we met with Sarah McAndrews and Daniel Deen both of whom did a thorough job of explaining CollegeWorks, the company and what we could expect of our painting job. We were informed Daniel would be in charge of our project which would begin at the end of the school year.

Even though it was a couple of months out, Daniel kept us informed; he checked back to set a date for beginning, reminded us to select colon and offered his assistance wherever and whenever we needed. We set Friday June 5th as the start date. The crew actually began the afternoon of June 4th. Mark and Luke started immediately with the masking and organizing their supplies and we were impressed with their work ethic and the finished house. It looks great!

They started at 7:00 am each morning and worked continuously until 5 pm at which time they cleaned up their tools and put everything away. Daniel worked with them quite often (to insure a timely completion, I'm sure). We found the crew to be very professional, courteous, hard working and they did an excellent job; far better than the "professional:" who did the previous painting of our house.

From our observations, Daniel is very organized, thorough and willing to go the little "extra bit" to satisfy his clients. For example, on a Sunday afternoon, I thought of a question to ask, so I sent a text message to him expecting an answer on Monday, the next work day. I actually received an answer immediately which was a pleasant surprise.

So the question is, would we recommend CollegeWorks? I'm not sure about other crews or other client satisfaction, but be assured we would highly recommend Daniel and be confident he, Mark and Luke would do an excellent job. Yes, we would hire him again.

Thank you
