I first want to acknowledge and compliment the professionalism that was demonstrated by the entire crew, from the initial sales call on to be actual painting and completion of the job. We found the College Works team to extremely focused on customer satisfaction and in doing whatever was required to complete the project with a satisfied and referenceable customer.

This letter is in reference to the job that College Works did in painting our home.

I first want to acknowledge and compliment the professionalism that was demonstrated by the entire crew, from the initial sales call on to be actual painting and completion of the job. We found the College Works team to extremely focused on customer satisfaction and in doing whatever was required to complete the project with a satisfied and referenceable customer. Obviously that is what we are. Both Mile Malchicoff and his painting crew were flexible in scheduling, willing to work until dark and very approachable with additional requests for touch up and detail.

The painting job itself is top notch. The initial painting was of a high quality and the final touch up required was minimal. The crew was great about cleaning up after themselves and leaving the house and yard in the condition that it started.

We have used more experienced painters and contractors in the past, often finding them to be inflexible, generally running behind schedule and difficult get to complete that final piece because they've moved on to the next job. This was not the case with College Works. Our satisfaction was clearly their top priority and we felt that our business was valued.

Without hesitation, I would recommend College Works to anyone looking for a painting contractor.
