To Whom It May Concern:

Dwayne McFarlane was the college student representative for College Works Painting in the College Park, Maryland area for the summer, 2004. Dwayne showed total professionalism and learned quite a bit about management and contract negotiation.

He hired courteous and hard working college students to perform the painting tasks required by the College Works Painting contractors.

Dwayne shows potential for management endeavors and would be an asset in any company. He shows good customer satisfaction relationships which in these times are lacking in many retail and service areas.

Whatever career Dwayne takes in the future he would be a good candidate for employment with your company.
