

College Works Painting Reference Letter
Cari Ham
803 Pino Way
Paso Robles, CA
93446

I am so glad for the opportunity to share our experience with both College Works Paint and Josh Jacobs. It has been fantastic to have such great service and to see our home look so beautiful.

June 19, 2008

I am so glad for the opportunity to share our experience with both College Works Paint and Josh Jacobs. It has been fantastic to have such great service and to see our home look so beautiful.

Several months ago Josh came to our door – introduced himself and the company he represented. He was courteous, friendly, and very knowledgeable. I was very interested but my husband was more concerned with those pesky things like food and shelter and thought painting our home was purely cosmetic and not a priority. So when Josh called and I told him not at this time he expressed his concern that we should really think about it because it wasn't just cosmetic. Our home was in real need of repair as well which in the preparation for the paint job is something they provided. I listened to his advice and the next time he came by to check on us we were ready.

Josh was extremely helpful and patient while we tried color after color after color. He gave us his very valuable opinions which kept us from making a horrible choice. We couldn't have been more thrilled with the outcome!

He brought by his District Manager, Sean Nachtigal, which gave us a great confident feeling that the company works as a team. Josh always was here when he said he would be and the team he hired couldn't have been nicer. They worked so hard and consistently. I also want to point out that it was the hottest week of the summer so far and they kept at it. They finished when they said they would and followed up on every detail. They made me feel that my opinion counted and they were very respectful and attentive to all details.

I think you can tell how pleased we are with Josh and College Works Painting. I have recommended them already to several friends and will continue to do so.

The last thing I want to mention is how much we miss them this week now that they are finished. Our youngest daughter got very attached and would talk to them while they worked. They were all so nice to her and she wishes we had more houses to paint.

If you are looking for a home to paint and are talking with Josh right now-then look no further. He will do a great job for your home as well.

Sincerely,

Cari Ham
803 Pino Way
Paso Robles, CA
93446

June 19, 2008

I am so glad for the opportunity to share our experience with both College Works Paint and Josh Jacobs. It has been fantastic to have such great service and to see our home look so beautiful.

Several months ago Josh came to our door - introduced himself and the company he represented. He was courteous, friendly, and very knowledgeable. I was very interested but my husband was more concerned with those pesky things like food and shelter and thought painting our home was purely cosmetic and not a priority. So when Josh called and I told him not at this time he expressed his concern that we should really think about it because it wasn't just cosmetic. Our home was in real need of repair as well -which in the preparation for the paint job is something they provided. I listened to his advice and the next time he came by to check on us we were ready.

Josh was extremely helpful and patient while we tried color after color after color. He gave us his very valuable opinions which kept us from making a horrible choice. We couldn't have been more thrilled with the outcome!

He brought by his District Manager, Sean Nachtigal, which gave us a great confident feeling that the company works as a team. Josh always was here when he said he would be and the team he hired couldn't have been nicer. They worked so hard and consistently. I also want to point out that it was the hottest week of the summer so far and they kept at it. They finished when they said they would and followed up on every detail. They made me feel that my opinion counted and they were very respectful and attentive to all details.

I think you can tell how pleased we are with Josh and College Works Painting. I have recommended them already to several friends and will continue to do so.

The last thing I want to mention is how much we miss them this week now that they are finished. Our youngest daughter got very attached and would talk to them while they worked. They were all so nice to her and she wishes we had more houses to paint.

If you are looking for a home to paint and are talking with Josh right now-then look no further. He will do a great job for your home as well.

Sincerely,

Cari Ham
803 Pino Way
Paso Robles, CA
93446