To Whom It May Concern:

I would like to take this opportunity to express my satisfaction in College Works and Especially Matthew Kranz. Just prior to putting my house up for sale, I realized that my garage and attached shed were in need of extensive repair. The building itself where to begin.

I would like to take this opportunity to express my satisfaction in College Works and Especially Matthew Kranz. Just prior to putting my house up for sale, I realized that my garage and attached shed were in need of extensive repair. The building itself where to begin.

I saw an article in the paper for College Works Painting and called. Matt was immediately responsive and we set up a meeting. He was both prepared and professional. He arrived on time and it took only an hour for him to explain his company and what he proposed to do to help me. He even brought donuts!

Before the work began, Matt brought samples of paint for me to choose the colors. He did not rush me. He explained the different grades of paint and their pros and cons. He applied my favorites to the building and advised me to give them time to dry so as to see the true colors. Again, no hurry.

Once I chose the colors, the work began. On the day of painting, he and his crew came early and worked neatly and quietly. They scraped, taped, primed and painted. By late afternoon, they were done.

I am extremely pleased with my garage and College Works. As my 5 year old nephew said when he saw the completed work. "It looks like a new garage!"

Sincerely,

To Whom It May Concern:

I would like to take this opportunity to express my satisfaction in College Works and especially Matthew Kranz. Just prior to putting my house up for sale, I realized that my garage and attached shed were in need of extensive repair. The building itself was over 60 years old and it had been over 20 years since it was painted. I didn't know where to begin.

I saw an article in the paper for College Works Painting and called. Matt was immediately responsive and we set up a meeting. He was both prepared and professional. He arrived on time and it took only an hour for him to explain his company and what he proposed to do to help me. He even brought donuts!
