Dear Jeremy:

Following our meeting in May when we met at my home, and I agreed to allow you to give me a bid for paint work on my building, you cannot imagine my misgivings and apprehensions about contemplating having a young college student undertake this project.

However, I was pleasantly surprised at the professionalism you demonstrated when we surveyed the project and the recommendations that you made as to the work that was required to successfully achieve the desired results.

I was very impressed with the fact that when an apparent misunderstanding regarding color of paint was brought to your attention, it was completely rectified without any fuss.

Despite the difficulty of the project, the job was completed in a very satisfactory manner, which can be attributed to your very efficient management skills.

I look forward to utilizing your services again in the near future.

Sincerely,

Chris Compogiannis
