My wife and I heartily recommend College Works Painters (CWP) to homeowners in search of conscientious, skilled house painters. We had been contemplating having the exterior trim, gutters and fascia of our two story Tudor style house painted, but knew that it would require thorough preparation of the surfaces prior to painting.

To who it may concern,

My wife and I heartily recommend College Works Painters (CWP) to homeowners in search of conscientious, skilled house painters. We had been contemplating having the exterior trim, gutters and fascia of our two story Tudor style house painted, but knew that it would require thorough preparation of the surfaces prior to painting. I had been impressed by the job done by painters from this organization on an older, wood sided home in our neighborhood the year before. So, when Michael LaForest representing CWP approached us to see if we would be interested in having our house painted, we ready to hear his presentation. Both of us were impressed by the care he took in examining the house, discussing our expectations and drawing-up a proposal. As the time approached to begin the project, Michael kept us apprised of their schedule and when the day arrived, introduced us to his team, Matt Benjamin and Ryan Vershay. As the work processed Michael conferred with us daily and asked about any concerns that might have arisen.

Matt and Ryan did a superb job of preparing the gutters, fascia, and trim! They carefully scraped, sanded and caulked the many areas that required attention then applied an oil primer and later an acrylic top coat. They worked long, hard days and finished the project on time and within the estimated 6 – 8 day period. The care they paid to daily clean-up of the house and yard was appreciated.

Our interactions with tills congenial group were excellent in every respect. Their competence and professionalism was impressive! We are very pleased with the service they provided us.

Sincerely,

John Lillie
