

College Works Painting Reference Letter
Bill Mathews
Glenside, Pa.
vertebra@comcast.net

I recently hired College Works Painting to paint my ninety six year old clapboard home. Having previously been in the painting business myself, I was little skeptical about hiring college kids to do the job.

I recently hired College Works Painting to paint my ninety six year old clapboard home. Having previously been in the painting business myself, I was little skeptical about hiring college kids to do the job. We needed other work done on our home, and our budget was a little on the short side. College Works price was more than reasonable, and in my mind I though I would take a chance. I can honestly say that I am impressed Zack and his crew were more than up to challenge. Communication was excellent – what he said would be done was done, and when he said it would be done, it was. Try finding that with other contractors!

While working on my home, Zack was training other painters to become managers. I would listen in on their conversations, and was very impressed with the eagerness of everyone to learn and become better at what they do. This is a very serious and well-run business.

I highly recommend College Works Painting. Feel free to contact me any time for questions you might have.

Bill Mathews

Glenside, Pa.

vertebra@comcast.net

I recently hired College Works Painting to paint my ninety six year old clapboard home. Having previously been in the painting business myself, I was a little skeptical about hiring college kids to do the job. We needed other work done on our home, and our budget was a little on the short side. College Works price was more than reasonable, and in my mind I thought I would take a chance. I can honestly say that I am impressed. Zack and his crew were more than up to the challenge. Communication was excellent - what he said would be done was done, and when he said it would be done, it was. Try finding that with other contractors!

While working on my home, Zack was training other painters to become managers. I would listen in on their conversations, and was very impressed with the eagerness of everyone to learn and become better at what they do. This is a very serious and well-run business.

I highly recommend College Works Painting. Feel free to contact me any time for questions you might have.

Bill Matthews

Glenside, Pa.

vertebra@comcast.net