

College Works Painting Reference Letter
John R. Flower
929 Oak Hill Dr. Harrisonburg VA 22801
steameng@adelphia.net

The following attests to the outstanding project management skills of David Engel within the College Works Painting.

John R. Flower
929 Oak Hill Dr. Harrisonburg VA 22801
steameng@adelphia.net

June 12, 2004

To Whom It May Concern:

The following attests to the outstanding project management skills of David Engel within the College Works Painting.

First let me provide a little background. I have been in the Engineering Service business for over 20 years. A large part of this profession entails marketing services and products and directing specific projects. During this time I have performed many successful projects.

College Works Painting provides hands on training and experience in project planning, marketing and execution to university students. Based on my experience, this is considered invaluable training for developing a career after graduation. Dave contacted me offering his painting services. During the first meeting he explained in detail what would be done to prepare and paint exterior surfaces on my house. After developing a firm cost, I signed a contract for the work. Dave stayed in touch keeping me advised of the planned schedule. Due to weather considerations, the schedule was changed and Dave kept his team on track and completed the painting in a timely manner.

Due to a situation beyond Dave's control, the scope of the job changed. He was able to revise schedule and cost quickly completing a fine job accordingly.

The experience gained in planning, marketing and executing projects within the College Works program is laying a strong base for future project management and marketing work. I strongly recommend Dave Engle for consideration for employment opportunities that will provide an avenue for increased experience and responsibility. Should you have questions, please contact me at the address above.

Sincerely

John R. Flower

John R. Flower
929 Oak Hill Dr. Harrisonburg VA 22801
steameng@adelphia.net

June 12, 2004

To Whom It May Concern:

The following attests to the outstanding project management skills of David Engel within the College Works Painting.

First let me provide a little background. I have been in the Engineering Service business for over 20 years. A large part of this profession entails marketing services and products and directing specific projects. During this time I have performed many successful projects.

College Works Painting provides hands on training and experience in project planning, marketing and execution to university students. Based on my experience, this is considered invaluable training for developing a career after graduation. Dave contacted me offering his painting services. During the first meeting he explained in detail what would be done to prepare and paint exterior surfaces on my house. After developing a firm cost, I signed a contract for the work. Dave stayed in touch keeping me advised of the planned schedule. Due to weather considerations, the schedule was changed and Dave kept his team on track and completed the painting in a timely manner.

Due to a situation beyond Dave's control, the scope of the job changed. He was able to revise schedule and cost quickly completing a fine job accordingly.

The experience gained in planning, marketing and executing projects within the College Works program is laying a strong base for future project management and marketing work. I strongly recommend Dave Engle for consideration for employment opportunities that will provide an avenue for increased experience and responsibility. Should you have questions, please contact me at the address above.

Sincerely

John R. Flower